OTHELLO

OR DESTRUCTIVE JEALOUSY .....40H

Synopsis :

Othello and Desdemona have a perfect love affair until the day a jealous and malicious entourage organizes a slander so that Othello thinks that Desdemona is not sincere and deceives him. He will murder her out of passionate impulse, learn the lie, and become mad and damned for his cursed and fatal act.

Educational objective :

Through the big scene of the execution, the learners will confront in pairs the feeling of betrayal, anger, emotional hurt and then repentance. This narcissistic journey is essential for every apprentice actor to also explore the dark sides within us. In addition, the work in this scene puts the learner in a situation of managing a dispute that is also very common in the professional world regardless of the learner's sector of activity.

Intention :

Work on the inner fire.

HAMLET

OR THE FEELING OF INJUSTICE AND REVENGE.....40H

Synopsis :

Hamlet, child of the murdered King of Denmark, learns through his return from beyond the tombs in the form of a specter, the behind the scenes of his poisoning by his own brother and his wife. Stopping short in his youth and in his carelessness for life and towards the community of Men, alone in the confidence of this royal plot of his uncle and his mother, charged by his father to avenge him, Hamlet, destroyed, betrays, wounded and disappointed will little by little organize the unraveling of the hidden truth and reveal the ignominy of a betraying mother and a fratricidal uncle. Hamlet questions himself about life before losing it..

Educational objective :

The learner here will confront resignation, the feeling of revenge, betrayal and despair, an imperative emotional lift for any apprentice actor including those in an amateur or professional business sphere in his positioning in a hierarchy and his relationship to disillusionment and to stratagems linked to the quest for power and professional competition.

Intention :

Embody revenge and distrust towards those closest or false allies.

WHAT IS THIS ?

An intervention through theater tailored for :

Learn to play with spoken or silent language by integrating personal feelings according to :

- The American method of the Actor Studio.
- The English method of the dancer Mathias Alexander on the awareness of the different segments of one's body.

To arrive at my own method of acting based on :

- The urgency and immediacy of the present moment.
- The dimension and vibrational level buffer between the visible and the invisible, the life and death of the body but of the eternity of the spirit, of memory, of the consciousness of space and terrestrial time.

Key Principles :

- Language must have a body to produce itself and reveal a truth or a lie.
- Language cannot in any case be just semantic theory without bodily and vital experience.
- Who says body says emotions, says feelings and intentions.

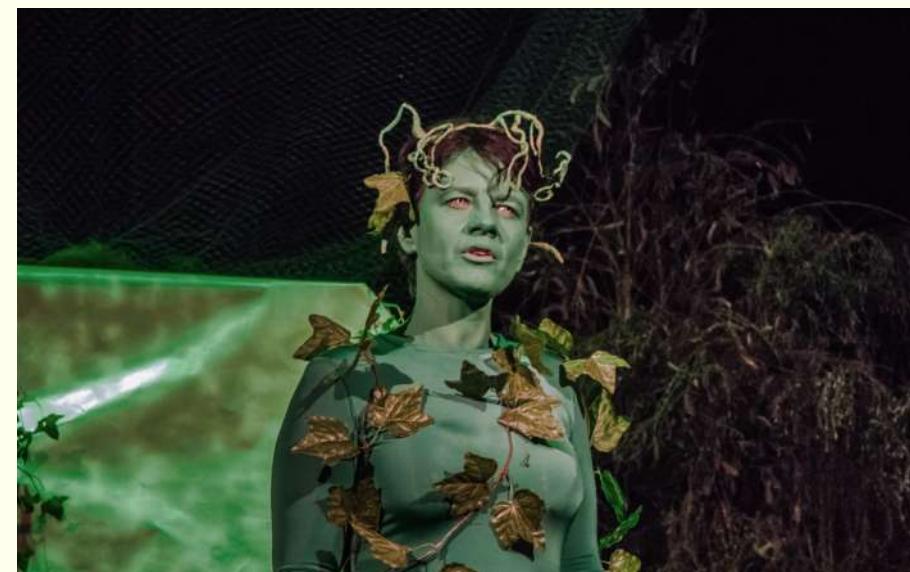

Human matter is universal but practice often remains cultural. The inhibition will not be the same depending on the country of origin, but these great texts of classic Shakespearean literature, in a simple and effective acting direction, will allow the learner to confront often confusing emotional situation in the use of a language and cultural codes specific to each person. Connecting or reconnecting with your inner self is essential to building your life and speaking in public with complete freedom and eloquence.

WHAT FOR ?

Format :

- Offer to learners in French (for the Alliance Française network) or in English.
- For all ages from 15 years old.
- Adaptable to all social and economic environments
